at the Lackawanna on July 4 last. During his service some of the most important cases in the history of the hospital have come under his notice. His term here has been characterized by a devotion and interest in the most unimportant cases, as well as those of importance.

In Hunter is a man of pleasing personality, and readily makes friends by his quiet, unassuming manner. His medical training is the best afforded by the University of Pennsylvania, and that means much.

He has resigned his position here to accept a higher one on the staff of the University of Pennsylvania hospital at Philadelphia. Dr. Hunter intends taking a two years' course at this hospital, and after completion will study abroad for a like term of years. He will then return to Philadelphia to practice.

COAL MEN CONSULTING.

Managers of Properties in This Region Are Now in New York City. Believe There.

The New York Commercial Advertiser of last night said:

For the past week the managers of the railroads operating in the coal fields have been mostly dropping into the New York offices of George F. Moore, coal expert, and his associates, in conference with the heads of the Moerck-Buckley roads. The presidents of the various companies are anxious to learn not only the conditions at the fields as the miners' representatives concern, but also their exact requirements.

At the same time President Moore, of the Peck railroad, a member of the firm of Peck, Peck and Company, has been in consultation today with the consultation an officer of the company said.

It does not believe that any action has been taken in the matter of applying to the State Legislature for a bill to regulate the coal trade.

If there has been, I have not heard of it.

I cannot speak for the rest of the trade but several managers, while they may have consulted with me informally, have taken no part in any general conference.

In all our trials the probabilities of a strike coming from the deputation of the miners' convention are considered very great by the operators. In the past year it is pointed out that it is not a presidential campaign year. The reason of last year's demand is just opening and in preparation for just such a contingency as a strike, the operators have worked their mines to the limit and are well stocked with reserve supply. This is the case with the coal miners, and President Mitchell, for example, has always shown a strong disinclination to venture on any step when the probabilities of its failure are obvious.

A DESERTER ARRESTED.

Brought to the City Last Night and Locked Up.

Edward J. Conarty, a deserter from Company M, First artillery, stationed to this city and locked up at police headquarters by F. H. Mortimore.

Conarty was arrested yesterday in Schuylkill county by Mortimore and brought to this city, preparatory to being removed to Sullivan's Island. He deserted on April 16, 1900.

SECOND FEAST OF FIELDMEN

CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL EMPLOYEE'S BANQUET.

Was Served Last Night at Hotel Jeromey and Was Attended by a Large Number of Assistant Superintendents and Solicitor-Collectors from All Parts of the Country Who Had a Trip to Scranton for Securing the Most New Students—Those Who Attended the Banquet.

The second monthly banquet given by the directors of the International Correspondence School to the assistant superintendents and solicitor-collectors east of the Mississippi securing the largest number of new students during certain months was conducted last night at the Hotel Jeromey and was attended by nearly 150 of the officials above described and employees at the home office in this city.

The banquet was served in the beautiful dining room of the hotel, the tables being arranged in the following sequence around the sides of the room. At each guest's plate was a handsome and attractive menu card and a carnation, seated in the center of the shorter table connecting the two larger ones was President T. J. Foster and on each side of him were the leading officers of the schools.

Before the visitors repaired to the dining room a sort of informal reception was conducted in the lobby. Those who had not personally met Mr. Foster were introduced to him and the men from the east shook hands with the men from the west, so that when the discussion of the really excellent menu began at 8:30 o'clock everybody was on the best of terms with everybody else and the conversation did not lag for a moment.

MR. FOSTER'S ADDRESS.

It was shortly after 10 o'clock when the cigar was lighted and orders drawn back. President Foster, having made a brief address, in which he outlined some interesting facts regarding the schools, which he said now have no less than 247,000 students scattered over the entire face of the earth—some in South Africa, some in Australia, hundreds in the various countries of Europe and as many more in South America.

On Feb. 28, he said, there were 1,116 field men and 1,022 home office employees in the service of the company. He said it was his earnest belief that before many years elapse, if the schools make the progress they have made within the past few years, the salary of every solicitor-collector will be at least $200 a month.

Each visitor present was then called upon to read a testimonial from some student in his territory who has been benefited by the instruction received at the schools. These testimonials were intensely interesting and gave a good idea of the wonderful advantages which may derive from the taking of a course in some technical study in the schools.

There was a letter from a former amateur winder in an electrical works who took a course in the theory of electric power and lighting and became a short time a foreman. There was an earnest and sincere commendation from a machinist, who had been grinding away year after year without any prospect of advancement. He took a course in applied mechanics and became superintendent of a big machine shop. And so they went.

THEY ARE THE WINNERS.

Those who were present at last night's banquet were the winners of the month of November and December. They get free transportation to the city stations in Scranton and a three days' trip in this city, together with the banquets. The plan is to be continued permanently and a banquet is to be held every month.

The mass meeting will be held in the hall of the American Legion, facing the Economy building, and will then proceed down Wyoming avenue, down Spruce to Franklin to Scranton, up Lackawanna to Adams, to Mulberry, to Wyoming, to Carpenter's hall, where the parade will disband.

Fully five thousand girls are expected to be in line. The Klotz strikers, who were the first bands to go out, have been accorded the right to lead the procession, and one hundred and fifty strong, will be in the van.

At the conclusion of the parade refreshments will be served at Carpenter's hall. A number of contributions have already been received from the local merchants, of fruit, cake and other articles of food.

The following are the donations received by the strikers' committee up to date:

M. E. Sanders, $1; A. Friend, $1; A. Friend, $1; G. C. Corcoran, 50 cents; Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, box of oranges; M. J. Kelly, two boxes cake; T. J. Kelly, two boxes cake.

The strikers had a special committee out yesterday afternoon soliciting donations, and on returning to headquarters the members of it declared that their day's work had been highly successful in securing supplies for luncheon after the parade.

There were no disturbances of any kind yesterday, although a number of male hands were at work both at Petersburgh and at Blizz' Dickson City mill. A large number of girls are expected to come up from Wilkes-Barre for tomorrow afternoon's parade and delegations from Pittston, Taylor, Minooka and Forest City will also have prominent places in the line.

Mosher & Coleman, Tailors, will occupy their new store in Burr building about March 26.

Ask for Kelly's union crackers.

FOR RECEIVING STOLEN GOODS.

One of Tony Reitz's Partners in the Tolls.

Abraham Rose, second-hand clothing dealer, of Penn avenue, was arrested by Mounted Officer Bloch yesterday, on the charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods. Rose was arraigned before Alderman Howe and held under $300 bail for his appearance in court. Max Judkovitz became his bondman.

Tony Spade, or Reitz, the young Italian who so cleverly victimized local merchants on bogus orders, sold one of the pair of et al shoes so fraudulently obtained to Rose, and were there recovered by the latter.

There are other merchants besides those mentioned in yesterday's Tribune who are believed to have fallen victim to Tony's cleverness, but who have as yet failed to make reports to the police department.

Tony is an Italian about 17 years of age, but the police regard him as one of the coolest swindlers Scranton has entertained for some time past.

Tony is an innocent-looking youth, and apparently has encountered no difficulty in deceiving the local merchants. His method of operation consists in presenting orders purporting to be signed by hotelkeepers, in payment for articles of apparel. Six storekeepers in the central city have so far acknowledged the fraud.

Tony is now confined to the county jail, under $1,000 bail, and the police intend to push the case to the full extent of the law.
